- Creative Expansions runs womenworking.com and their social media platforms. For this company I came up with and created many videos for their website, instagram, tiktok, and facebook. The videos I created fall under various categories from filming and editing recipe videos to compiling stock footage and voice over to create inspirational messages for the women in the network.

Kiwi Mount Production Company – Video Intern

September 2021– December 2021

- The company is a new, startup company that specializes in product videos for their clients to use on Amazon listings, social media, websites, etc.
- I gained experience with video production and post production, looking for new clients, social media, and working collaboratively with a team.

Fire Season – co-director,co-editor,co-cinematographer

2020

- A short documentary following two people helping the firefighters fighting the wildfires in California. I flew to California with my co-director and filmed the interviews and some b-roll on location. I, along with my co-director, did everything for this documentary from start to finish. I handled releases, scouted locations, contacted interviewees, filmed, and edited the piece.
